SHEPHERD TO GET FREEDOM

Governor Marshall Issues a Pardon to Long Imprisoned Manila Man.

BEEN IN JAIL TWO YEARS

Serving Drastic and Unusual Sentence Imposed by Jury in Shelby County.

Conditional that he remains away from Manila, William Shepherd was pardoned by Governor Thomas Marshall on Tuesday says the Shelbyville News. A petition bearing the names of the jurors and leading business men of the city was presented the Governor by Attorney Alonzo Blair and Sheriff John Butler. Shepherd's mother was also present to speak a word for her son. Shepherd will be released this morning and taken by the Sheriff to the home of his uncle.

Shepherd's case was a peculiar one. Fair week, 1907, he was arrested on an affidavit from Justice Webb's court on a charge of criminally assaulting a six-year-old Pountaintown girl, whose father kept a stand adjoining Shepherd's at the fair grounds. Action against Shepherd was dismissed in the Justice's court because the court held the child's testimony was not admissible. Prosecutor Haek brought the matter before the grand jury where an indictment was returned and Shepherd was arrested. He gave bond until his trial was held. He was convicted on plain assault and battery, the verdict of the jury being one of the most drastic ever returned in the local court.

Shepherd was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $1000, the maximum penalty. Considering Shepherd's penury, the fine and sentence was even worse than had he been convicted of criminal assault. Before his six months was served he escaped from jail with Isaac Wilson and was gone several weeks before captured near Rushville by Sheriffs King and Butler. Since that time, almost two years, he has been in jail. Efforts were made to induce Shepherd to enter a plea of guilty to a criminal assault, but he refused. Had he done so he would have been sentenced from one to fourteen years and on good behavior could have gotten out at the end of one year. His mother offered to pay the $1,000 fine but Shepherd again objected. The money represented all that Mrs. Shepherd has. She intended to mortgage her little home to get the money.

Judge Sparks recently visited the Governor to intercede in Shepherd's behalf. Confinement in the jail made necessary hasty action if Shepherd hoped to leave alive. He has been failing in health rapidly and has contracted stomach and intestinal disorders.

Gov. Marshall had been advised acquaintances of Shepherd in Manila were bitter against him and his pardon was conditional that he remain away from the town.

The governor remitted the fine and ordered Shepherd's release from custody today.

JOHN DAGLER HAS GOOD PROSPECTS

Former Rushville Lad Has a Classy
Bunch of Horses in Training
This Spring.

IS LOCATED NEAR RICHMOND.

The Richmond correspondent for the Western Horseman had the following to say of John Dagler, former Rushville horseman, and son of Wm. Dagler:

"John Dagler has everything in fine shape at the Reidston Stock Farm, Richmond, Ind. The brood mares are in fine condition and the colts are as fat as pigs as the result of running out in the excellent pastures. Owing to the bad weather, John is a month behind in his work as he had planned it, but now the track is in fine condition and he expects to make up for lost time.

"The colts he is working include Billy Todd, by Todd; Nuttree and John Spann, both by Tregantle and all three-year-olds, and has also a filly by Walnut Hall; Ruth Randall, by Blackline, and Fancy Forrest, by General Forrest, and Duke of Reidston, by Atlantic King, all two-year-olds, and Baron Mobil, a five-year-old by Mobil. The two-year-olds are working around the three-minute mark, the three-year-olds around 2:40 or better, with the last quarters in 33 and 34 seconds.

"Princess Sophia, by Prince of India, that he purchased at the Laekey sale, is a genuine find. She was purchased on account of her rare breeding for a brood mare, but she is showing so well that she will undoubtedly be raced."

LAND OF FLAT HEAD INDIANS

John M. Stevens of Rushville was here Tuesday to visit his sister, Mrs. F. P. Monfort, and other relatives says the Greensburg News. Marsh will start the last of this week on his trip to KilsPELL in north-western Montana, with a party of six. Ed Tarplee of Clarksburg, being listed as one of the party. They will go by rail instead of the overland route as first planned. They are anticipating great things in the land in the Flat Head Indian Reservation. The lake on the reservation is thirty-five miles long, twelve to fifteen miles wide and about 600 feet deep. The city of Kalispell is only about twelve years old, has a population of 7500 and with improvements and business fitting in city of 50,000 people.

GRIM DEATH TOOK A YOUNG WOMAN

Mrs. Bert Osborn Expired at Sexton Sanitarium This Morning at Early Hour.

HUSBAND AND SON SURVIVE

Was a Big Prize Winner in Fall
Horse Show—Was an Excellent Whip.

Mrs. Bert Osborn died at the Sexton sanitarium this morning at four-thirty o'clock after an illness of several weeks. Death was due to appendicitis complicated by a general peritonitis. Mrs. Osborn was threatened with an attack of appendicitis several weeks ago and delayed the necessary operation until it was too late. She underwent an operation yesterday, but not much hope was entertained for her recovery with or without the operation.

The deceased was twenty-two years old last December and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dora Higgins living southwest of this city. The remains were taken to the Higgins home this morning.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Osborn was one of the big premium winners in the horse show last fall. She was a much feared competitor by all of the other lady drivers and made such a neat appearance behind her beautiful horse and handled the animal with grace and cleverness and displayed so much ability as a whip, that it was next to impossible the judges to award the numerous premiums elsewhere. She also won a number of prizes at the county fair with her excellent horsemanship.

The deceased is survived by her husband, a small son, her parents, one brother and one sister. The funeral services will be conducted from the residence of her parents Friday afternoon at two o'clock by Rev. R. W. Abberley. The remains will be buried in East Hill cemetery.

GILSON FORGED HIS WAY TO THE FRONT

Rush County Lad Has More Than
Made Good in New York City.

WAS WEST SEVERAL YEARS

C. B. Gilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boone Gilson, living north of this city, who is now located in New York City is home for a month's vacation with friends and relatives. Young Gilson left here several years ago going to Seattle and other western cities where he was employed in some of the largest retail furniture stores in the west. At present he is located with the Simpson-Crawford department store, one of the best in Gotham, and on the floor of sixteen salesmen has forged his way to the front and now ranks as third salesman in the furniture department where he has worked for eight months. The firm for which Gilson works is one of the largest in New York City, over three thousand clerks being employed there.

PROCLAMATION FOR FLAG DAY

Mayor Cowing Asks That Citizens
Display National Emblem
Next Monday.

INTEREST EVER INCREASING.

Americans Love Their Flag More
Each Succeeding Year—The Monarch of the Breezes.

*****
PROCLAMATION
*****
Next Monday being Flag Day and generally observed all over the country, as mayor of the City of Rushville, I call upon all the citizens to display the American flag on that day and urge that the proper persons see to it that flags float from the public buildings.
HARVEY M. COWING,
Mayor.

Monday, June 14, of this year, will be the 132d anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes as the flag of the United States.

This day, although constantly receiving increased public recognition, is not as generally observed as it deserves. Perhaps it is because the present generation does not realize the significance of the national emblem. It seems but just, however, to suppose that love of the stars and stripes is simply dormant, and that, in a crisis, it would kindle with as much enthusiasm as of old, when, in stormier times, it was a question of whether or not the flag should be preserved.

Americans who have traveled abroad say that the pleasant sight that greets their eyes in a foreign land is the emblem of freedom floating in the breeze from the mast of one of Uncle Sam's warships or a consulate.

Last year the governors of many States, by proclamation, called public attention to Flag Day, and ordered the flag displayed on their State buildings. Mayors of numerous cities ordered flags to be displayed upon the municipal buildings of their various cities. They also invited their fellow citizens to do the same upon their private dwellings.

A moment's reflection will tell you what the flag means to you. Your judgment will tell you that it is a fine and noble thing to help observe Flag Day, either by displaying your flag or by making it a holiday.

Make the day a bigger event than it was last year.

NEWSBOY BOY BAND FOR COUNTY FAIR

Fifty Piece Organization Coming From Indianapolis to Give Concerts One Afternoon.

FAIR WILL BE THE BEST EVER

One of the attractions at the Rush county fair this fall will be the Indianapolis News Newsboys' Band of fifty pieces. They will probably play on Thursday afternoon. The Rushville band will play one or two days. With the added attraction of the Nassar airship flight, the fair promises to be the greatest one ever held in this or any adjoining county.

Rushville is going to boom.

JOT DOWN DATES AS THE CAR JOLTED ON

Big Chautauqua Man Was Here Yesterday in Conference With James E. Watson.

THEY HAD TO TALK ON THE FLY

A. L. Flude, general manager of the Mutual Lyceum Bureau, of Chicago, and president of the Chautauqua Associations, was here yesterday conferring with James E. Watson regarding a number of dates for this summer. Mr. Watson was called to Connersville on a law suit, but the Chautauqua man went right along arranging an itinerary (and other matters) on the car going and coming from that city, and whenever Mr. Watson had a few leisure minutes to talk business.

WILL STEAM AWAY FROM OLD BOSTON

Miss Frances Sexton Left Today For an Extensive Tour of the Old World.

WILL JOIN A PARTY OF SIX

Miss Frances Sexton, daughter of Mrs. J. C. Sexton left today for Boston from where she will steam next Saturday for an extensive tour of Europe. She will go in a party of six young ladies chaperoned by a Miss McComb, who in addition to being a competent guide is a linguist of some note. Miss Sexton sails on the White Star Line twin-screw steamer Canopic and the itinerary of the tour includes a short stay in Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Belgium, France and the British Isles. She will return home about the middle of September.

THE WEATHER

Showers tonight and Thursday.

Rushville is going to boom.

POPULAR HERO OF THE MERRIMAC

Will Probably Be Secured for the Local Chautauqua Program.

TICKETS ARE SELLING GOOD.

Richmond P. Hobson is Available—
James H. Shaw Will be Here
Tomorrow.

The tickets for the Chautauqua are gradually being sold and the local promoters are very anxious that they all be sold in a very short time so that work can be begun on the program. Already W. O. Headlee has received many offers from lyceum companies for talent and work must be started on the program soon in order to secure the best numbers which are to be had.

James H. Shaw of Bloomington, Ill., who will have charge of the chautauqua this year, will come tomorrow to complete arrangements and will remain here until it is assured of being a success. Failure was never written on any page of his history in an attempt to put on a chautauqua in all his years of experience and he does not intend to make this the first one.

Mr. Flude was here yesterday in the interests of the Mutual company of Chicago to sell the local managers talent for the program. He has many interesting numbers on his list which will probably be considered by the managers here. It is very probable that Richmond P. Hobson, the hero of the sinking Merrimac, will be placed on the program. He has been engaged in lecture work since retiring since from the navy and has proven to be very popular everywhere that he has appeared. In view of the fact that he is available and can be secured for a reasonable price he will probably be hired for the local program. A number of other interesting chautauqua features can be had and they are all being considered and will be hired when the proper time comes.

YOUNG WOMEN AND MEN BY THE SCORES

Here Today For Educational Day
Exercises at Main Street Christian Church.

LARGE CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

With clear skies and the sunshine of a typical and beautiful June day, came scores of good looking girls to town this morning attired in immaculate white and "more scores" of young men, nearly all of them fashion plates and looking more like eastern college students than Rush county farmer lads, for such were they. They were here for Educational Day and to receive their diplomas for completion in the eighth grade country schools. The exercises were held in the Main Street Christian church this afternoon. Supt. Randall presented the "sheep skins" to the happy graduates. State Supt. R. J. Alew was booked for the principal address and the Rushville Ladies Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. T. A. Craig furnished the music for the occasion. A large crowd was in attendance.

Rushville is going to boom.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

"BLACK HAND" HEADQUARTERS

Postoffice Inspectors Discover Lair of the Gang.

ASTOUNDING REVELATIONS

When the Whole Story of the Discoveries Made at Marion, O., Following the Arrest of "Black Hand" Suspects Is Made Known the Country Will Be Astounded, Say the Postoffice Inspectors Who Caused the Arrests.—Documentary Evidence Reveals Wide Ramifications of the Organization.

Cincinnati, June 9.—United States postoffice inspectors from Cincinnati believe they have discovered the headquarters of the "Black Hand" in this country at Marion, O. This belief is based on documentary evidence found when Sam Lima of Marion, O.; Antonio Vicario of Columbus, O., and A. Marfis of Dennison, O., were arrested. Inspector Oldfield states that when the whole story is known the country will be astounded.

The arrests were made simultaneously in the three towns named after a search of six months for the men who sent threatening letters to John Amican, a fruit dealer of Columbus, O., demanding $15,000. The handwriting in the letters sent to Amican is identical with that in the letters received by Antonio Rizzio, a fruit dealer of Cincinnati, who died suddenly several weeks ago after refusing to obey the demand in "Black Hand" letters to give up $1,000 or forfeit his life. He died soon after eating a banana given him by a stranger.

A dispatch from Marion states that Joe Rizzo was also arrested in that city. The postoffice inspectors claim that they have discovered evidence showing that Marion is the headquarters of all of the "Black Hand" societies of the country, and they claim that Sam Lima is the head of the organization. The contents of the safe in the Rizzo store, which was opened by the inspectors, bear them out in this assertion, they say. They say they found that hundreds of business men in all parts of the state have been paying tribute to the gang. Arrests are said to have been made also at Pittsburg, Pa., and inspectors left for Bellefontaine to make several more there.

Chief Postoffice Inspector Charles Holmes of this city, who is in charge of the work which has resulted in the arrests so far made, is authority for the statement that evidence has been secured showing that the gang operating from Marion, and with lines reaching into a number of big cities of the country, have fleeced different persons in this and other states out of thousands of dollars in the last few months by the application of "Black Hand" methods. Inspector Holmes says that the gang which conducted its operations from Marion was composed of Italians and worked exclusively upon their countrymen. He has obtained evidence that as late as two weeks ago they sent from the Marion (O.) postoffice money orders aggregating $1,900 to confederates in Italy, this being the division of blackmail funds in one case. Many such bits of evidence, it is claimed, are in possession of the inspectors.

In discussing the case Inspector Holmes said: "The proof we have found against the Marion gang convinces us that they have worked their game successfully on many Italians, principally well-to-do Sicilians. We have not found where they went after a single American. They meant business when they made demands for money. If their demands were ignored they resorted to the bomb to either bring their victim to time or to avenge a persistent refusal to submit to blackmail."

PITTSBURG DOESN'T KNOW

No Information There Regarding the Black Hand Arrests.

Pittsburg, June 9.—Futile efforts were made here to obtain definite information concerning the alleged gigantic Black Hand operations throughout Ohio, uncovered by arrests in several portions of the state. There have been no recent arrests of Black Hand members here and no confirmation of a report from Cincinnati to the contrary could be secured.

Director of Public Safety Morin, Superintendent of Police McQuaide, Postoffice Inspector Williams and the jail officials stated that they knew nothing regarding the matter. The police department authorities said a close surveillance of Black Hand suspects in this vicinity was maintained at all times, but they knew of no special investigation in Ohio.

LIFELIKE ELECTRIC HEAD.

Odd Exhibit at a Convention to Show Adaptability of Electricity.

A severed head which smokes a cigarette, winks its eyes and moves its ears will be one of the novel exhibits at Young's pier, Atlantic City, when the National Electric Light association meets in convention the first week in June. More than 3,000 members, from 1,400 different cities, will be on hand to exchange views as to the future of electricity and show each other the sights they have brought from their home towns. Probably no exhibit will surpass the electric head in point of novelty.

The head proper—that is to say, the face—and the framework on which the interior mechanism is carried are made the former of papier mache and the latter of wood. It follows closely the design of the famous Perry head and is the outcome of an incident said to have occurred during the reign of terror in Paris. Two medical students agreed that in case one of them should have the misfortune to fall a victim to the guillotine the other should be present at the execution. There, with the severed head in his hand, the question as to whether life and sensibility lingered in the head after decapitation was to be decided by three winks of one eye of the severed member. When this gruesome experiment was made, so the story goes, the eye in the head winked twice, then betrayed no further sign of life.

The idea of the electric head is to show the adaptability of electricity as a means of controlling the most delicate and intricate of machinery. When the head goes to Young's pier it will rest on a table, and an operator who stands near by will with an unseen movement control its motions. To all outward appearance the head will roll its eyes of itself, wink, raise its hair on end, move across the table and puff a cigarette with evident enjoyment.

$14,000,000 MERGER IN LIGHT AND POWER

Consolidation of Indiana and Illinois Concerns.

Evansville, Ind., June 9.—It is announced that the stock of the Evansville Light company, the $3,000,000 corporation which owns the Evansville Gas and Electric Light company, is being bought up preparatory to a merger. The Louisville brokers who are buying up the stock think some of it is in Evansville, but local bankers and brokers have been unable to find any of it. It is officially announced that the Evansville Light company, the Springfield (Ill.) Railway and Light company, the Rockford (Ill.) Railway and Light company and the Peoria (Ill.) Light company are to consolidate with the Union Railway, Gas and Power company, a new concern which proposes to issue $8,000,000 in bonds and preferred stock and $6,000,000 in common stock.

NOTABLE CASE QUIETLY ENDED

Suit For $30,000,000 Against Sugar Trust Settled.

WITHOUT COURT'S DECISION

After the Evidence Had Been Completed in Big Damage Suit of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company Against the American Sugar Refining Company, the So-Called Trust, the Parties Announce That Their Differences Had Been Adjusted Under a Private Understanding, and Court Record Is Thus Avoided.

New York, June 9.—A settlement of the suit of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company for $30,000,000 damages from the American Sugar Refining company has been reached by attorneys representing those companies. The terms of the settlement were not made public. The suit has been on trial in the federal courts here for some time past.

The case had been on trial for two weeks in the United States district court. The terms of the settlement were not made public and counsel for both plaintiff and defendant declined to discuss the agreement other than to say that an understanding had been reached and that a statement would perhaps be forthcoming later.

The suit was one of those familiar yet complicated legal moves instituted every now and then by a smaller concern against an alleged monopoly, charging in effect that it had been driven out of business. In this case witnesses testified that Adolph Segal of Philadelphia, controlling power of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, borrowed from Gustav A. Kissel a million and a quarter dollars, for which he gave as security 26,000 shares of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, together with a voting trust certificate for the same, which was to run until the repayment of the loan.

With the power thus conferred upon him, Kissel, it was alleged, installed himself and three of his clerks as directors of the independent sugar company, and having control of the board of directors he passed a remarkable resolution which declared that the then almost completed refinery, which is said to be one of the most economical ever built, should not be opened or operated until further order of the board.

That resolution, the plaintiff contended, was drafted by John E. Parsons, acting as counsel for the sugar trust, for whom it showed Gustav A. Kissel, the lender, also was an agent.

ARRESTS AT JACKSON

Three Kentucky Feudists Held In the Case of Ed Callahan.

Jackson, Ky., June 9.—Three arrests have been made of men charged with being implicated in the shooting from ambush of former Sheriff Ed Callahan. Those under arrest are Govan Smith, leader of the Smith faction; his brother, Elisha Smith, and Levi Johnson. Callahan's death is hourly expected.

The arrests followed the work of a sheriff's posse, which started bloodhounds from the home of the former feud leader at Crockettville, this county, on the trail of the supposed bushwhackers. From the scene of the shooting the dogs went to the home of Govan Smith. It was here that the arrests of the two Smith brothers and Johnson were made. The posse is continuing its search for others who are suspected of being implicated in the shooting.

SIX-YEAR-OLD BEGGAR

Flaxen-Haired Youngster Supported the Family.

Aurora, Ill., June 9.—Carl Goodbar, a little flaxen-haired lad of six years, who has supported his parents in comparative ease for three years by begging, is now in jail here. With the boy is his father, H. L. Goodbar, who gives his address as Indianapolis. The father and son have made begging trips through the country, staying out for a week to two months. Goodbar tells the police, a pitiful story, well drilled into the child, has netted from $4 to $12 a day on all the trips, the police were told. The child is a prodigy. His intelligence almost equals that of a grown person.

Begging For Fun.

Indianapolis, June 9.—Mrs. Goodbar, mother of Earl Goodbar, rooms at 501 North East street. She said last night that the boy left here with his father last Friday or Saturday. She says that Goodbar has worked for a Virginia tobacco firm, and that he had a supply of money when they left. She says the boy might have been begging for fun, as there was no necessity for his begging.

Nashville, Chattanooga, Mobile and Houston are the main contenders in the contest now on at Memphis for the honor of entertaining the next encampment of the Confederate veterans.

CONGRESS CONCERNED OVER TAFT'S ATTITUDE

What If the President Should Veto Tariff Bill?

Washington, June 9.—Senate and house leaders who are directing the course of the tariff bill through congress, and who will be members of the conference on the bill after it has passed the senate, have taken measures to ascertain whether there is any foundation for reports that President Taft would veto the bill. They have reached the conclusion that there is no basis whatever for such reports.

Speaker Cannon, Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne individually have been to the White House several times in the past few days and they say that if President Taft is dissatisfied with the course the bill is taking through congress he has concealed his concern very successfully. The president told one of the Republican leaders that no one had authority to suggest that he had in mind the veto of the tariff measure. Mr. Aldrich talked with the president for some time, and when he returned to the capitol he told his colleagues that the president did not appear to be at all perturbed about the tariff situation and that he had expressed confidence in the members of the finance committee.

LAWYER INDICTED

Charged With Embezzlement of Money Obtained on Court Judgment.

Crowley, La., June 9.—Shelby Taylor, a lawyer of this city and a member of the Louisiana railroad commission, has been indicted by the grand jury here on the charge of embezzlement of $1,000. The complainant is Mrs. Maggie Henley, for whom Taylor was successful in obtaining judgment on a suit for $2,500 for the accidental death of her husband. It is alleged that $1,000 additional was obtained for her minor child. This latter sum was not turned over to Mrs. Henley, it is claimed, because the lawyer was advised by relatives that she was not competent to handle the money. Commissioner Taylor is absent in Kentucky, but has notified officials here that he will hurry home to face the charges.

SENTENCED TO JAIL

But Bucket Shop Men Will Resist to the Highest Court.

Cincinnati, June 9.—Louis W. Foster, John W. Gorman, formerly of Indianapolis; Walter Campbell, A. C. Baldwin, Edwin Heil and J. M. Scott were each sentenced to a term of six months in jail and each to pay a fine of $200 and costs by Judge Thompson in the United States district court here for using the United States mails to further schemes to defraud in conducting a bucket shop. The defendants immediately filed a motion for a stay of execution in order to appeal the case to the United States circuit court of appeals. In the meantime each of the defendants will be at liberty under $5,000 bond. The defendants operated the bucket shop known as the O'Dell Brokerage company, the largest of its kind in the country.

The Government a Bull.

Chicago, June 9.—The government crop report checked a declining tendency in wheat prices Tuesday and caused an advance of more than 1 cent from the low point of the session.

SENT HIM HOME WITH FREEDOM

No Indictment Returned In Line Fence Tragedy.

AN UNUSUAL PROCEEDING

Joel Railsback, Slayer of Alexander and Raymond Meek in a Quarrel Over a Division Fence, Appeared Personally Before the Wayne County Grand Jury, a Proceeding Unique in the History of Criminal Procedure in That County.—The Inquisitors Let Him Go Free.

Richmond, Ind., June 9.—Joel Railsback, slayer of Alexander Meek and Raymond Meek, in a line fence fight, has returned to his country home, three miles west of Richmond, a free man. After an investigation lasting five days, and during which time more than fifty witnesses were examined, the Wayne county grand jury reported to Judge Fox that no indictment had been found against Railsback. Railsback himself appeared before the grand jury, a proceeding altogether unusual and never before occurring in the investigation of a murder case in Wayne county.

The young man sat in the circuit court room under the guard of a deputy sheriff when the grand jury appeared. He showed no excitement when the result was announced, but that he was appreciative was evident from the warm manner in which he thanked the grand jurors. He telephoned the good news to his aged parents and then hurried home.

VOTING IN CLARK

Another River County Deciding the Option Question Today.

Jeffersonville, Ind., June 9.—With the local option election in progress in Clark county today both sides profess to be confident of the result.

The campaign has by comparison with others of this class been exceptionally quiet and the result therefore is hard to forecast. The temperance forces in making an estimate as to their probable chances are handicapped by the fact that Floyd, an adjoining county, went "wet" after a campaign in which enthusiasm for the optionists was rampant. Clark county, however, in contrast to Floyd, which has but four small townships outside of New Albany, has eleven big townships. Of this number nine are "dry" by remonstrance.

Jeffersonville also has but little more than one-half the vote of New Albany. These facts are encouraging to the temperance people. The saloon forces on the other hand have conducted a quiet campaign, one which was planned along the lines of political management and an organization has been effected which is causing the leaders to feel encouraged as to the result.

RAY UNDER INDICTMENT

Wealthy Tippecanoe County Farmer Held On Murder Charge.

Lafayette, Ind., June 9.—The grand jury returned an indictment against Elias Ray, a wealthy Tippecanoe county land owner, charging him with murder in the second degree, and a half hour after the finding of the jury Sheriff Darius Frazer was on his way and arrested Ray at his farm. Ray was locked up at the jail, but through his attorneys instituted habeas corpus proceedings which are being heard today.

Ray is charged with killing Conrad Ortmann, an employe, with a hickory stick on the afternoon of May 25 at Ray's farm. Ray asserts he struck Ortmann in self-defense.

Train-Wrecking Mystery Solved.

Hammond, Ind., June 9.—The Grand Trunk train-wrecking mystery, which for two months has engaged the attention of railroad detectives, was solved by the confession of Willie Osborne, a fifteen-year-old lad, living near Griffith, Ind. Only by a narrow margin were the lives of over 300 passengers on a Chicago-bound vestibuled flyer saved from death or injury.

Deadly Dose For Baby.

Indianapolis, June 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Elza Oder, 1341 West Twenty-seventh street, were administering medicine to their six-weeks-old baby, and they did not know until afterward that they had given the child a morphine tablet instead of a tablet of similar size and appearance prescribed by a physician for the child's ailment, colic. The baby is dead.

Another "Dry" County.

Lagrange, Ind., June 9.—After having been "dry" by remonstrance for about three years, Lagrange county, Tuesday, voting under the option law, recorded its ballots against saloon license by a margin of only 250 votes.

Judge Stotsenburg Dead.

New Albany, Ind., June 9.—Former Judge John H. Stotsenburg, a resident of this city for more than fifty years and for many years one of the leading members of the Floyd county bar, is dead at his home in this city.

Experience Proves.

Time tells which is best and most reliable. For 70 years Perry Davis' Painkiller has been driving away pain and bringing health—as a remedy for sprains, burns, bruises, rheumatism, neuralgia. It cures colds, cramps, bowel complaint. But be sure to take this unequalled remedy promptly. Large bottles 35 cents or larger 50 cents.

STORIES OF LORIMER.

Experience of the New Illinois Senator With a Farmer.

Representative William Lorimer of Chicago, Republican, who was recently elected United States senator from Illinois to succeed Albert J. Hopkins, is a great walker. One day when he was a congressman he was out for a tramp along the conduit road leading from Washington. He sat down to rest after going a few miles.

"Want a lift, mister?" asked a good natured Maryland farmer driving that way.

"Thank you," responded Mr. Lorimer. "I will avail myself of your kind offer."

The two rode in silence for awhile. Presently the teamster asked, "Professional man?"

"Yes," answered Lorimer, who was thinking of a bill he had pending before the house.

After another long pause the farmer observed, "Say, you ain't a lawyer or you'd be talking, you ain't a doctor 'cause you got no satchel, and you shore ain't a preacher from the looks of you. What is your profession, anyhow?"

"I am a politician," replied Lorimer. The Marylander gave a snort of disgust. "Politics ain't no profession; politics is a disorder."

Years ago when Mr. Lorimer was working in the glue department of the Armour company, at Chicago, the elder Armour came down to the packing house one morning at half past 6 o'clock. He walked through the glue department and found Lorimer the only man there.

"Do you get down at this time every morning?" asked Mr. Armour.

"Yes, sir," Lorimer replied, "when you are in the city, sir."

It wasn't long before Lorimer had a raise in pay.

TO WED IN SUFFRAGETTE CAR

Pair Will Show That "Equal Rights" Are Not Home Disturber.

"Beautiful, accomplished, vivacious and wealthy" is the description given of the bride to be, while "tall and handsome, rich and as a consequence influential, brilliant and ardent devotee of the cause" give an inkling of the reputed qualifications of the bridegroom in the case of the pair to be married in the drawing room of a parlor car attached to the special train in which the advocates of equal rights will journey across the state of Washington June 29, says a Spokane dispatch.

"The names of the couple will remain a secret," Mrs. May Arkwright Hutton, head of the Spokane Suffrage club, said, "until it is time to show the world, instead of alienating women from the freeds, the suffrage movement tends toward the creation of home ties."

The suffragettes' train will have among its passengers the Rev. Anna Shaw and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman Suffrage alliance.

MI-O-NA

Relieves Stomach Misery Almost Immediately.

If the food you ate at your last meal did not digest, but laid for a long time like lead on your stomach, then you have indigestion and quick action should be taken.

Of course there are many other symptoms of indigestion, such as belching up of sour food, heartburn, dizziness, shortness of breath and foul breath, and if you have any of them, your stomach is out of order and should be corrected.

Mi-o-na tablets have cured thousands of cases of indigestion and stomach trouble. If you have any stomach distress, Mi-o-na will relieve you instantly.

But Mi-o-na unlike most so-called dyspepsia remedies, does more than relieve; it permanently cures dyspepsia or any stomach trouble by putting energy and strength into the walls of the stomach, where the gastric juices are produced.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets costs but 50 cents at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s, and are guaranteed to cure or money back. When others fail, Mi-o-na cures. It is a producer of flesh when the body is thin; it cleanses the stomach and bowels; purifies the blood and makes rich red blood.

HYOMEI

Cures catarrh or money back. Just breathe it in. Complete outfit, including inhaler $1. Extra bottles 50c. Druggists.

Pay Telephone Toll.

Don't overlook to pay your telephone toll before June 12, if you wish to avoid paying 15 cents extra for collection.

We are authorized to announce the name of Samuel G. Gregg, for re-nomination for Clerk of the city of Rushville subject to the decision of the Republican nominating convention.

CITY TREASURER.

We are authorized to announce that Melvin L. Moor is a candidate for City Treasurer, subject to the decision of the Republican city nominating convention.

The old era of free lands for the landless has ended in the United States. Uncle Sam is no longer rich enough to give us all a farm. Some land under the homestead act of 1862 is still taken up every year. But the quarter sections which are desirable, and which are given away under that act for the cost of surveying, are nearly extinct. They are chiefly confined to the arid region, and require irrigation to make them productive.

Agriculture is still one of the country's most important interests, and especially with prices at their present high level farming has become one of the most profitable of employments. Spot wheat has gone up farther even than Patten predicted, which shows that the crop is shorter than had been popularly supposed. Crops of all the cereals are likely to be larger in 1909 than they were in 1908, but the demand at home and abroad, is increasing so rapid through the growth of population in the nonagricultural pursuits that prices are not likely to drop far from the present level in the near future. The chances for the farmer to have a fair income for his labor are better than they were until a few years ago. Moreover, with the advent of rural free delivery and the long-distance telephone, life on the farm has many attractions which it lacked in the old days.

Peoples' Column

Are We Grateful as a Nation or is Our Gratitude Growing Cold to the Victors of '61 to '65?

I have of late years heard some comment about the lack of interest taken in the Decoration Day exercises and the decoration of our homes upon that occasion. However, I can never be convinced that the American people are ungrateful. While we admit and deplore the neglect to make every American home shine with the brightness of the red, white and blue on that day as a token of our gratitude for the great sacrifices made for us by the boys of '61 to '65.

America as a nation is a grateful nation. A grace that shines like the star of Bethlehem in a nation as well as in the individual, and we are persuaded that any lack of interest or failure to show a proper regard to our dead and living heroes is not a lack of patriotism or gratitude, but rather an oversight occasioned by our rush to keep pace with the onward march of progression. America is a progressive nation, and we stand today the peer of all nations. Every nation under the sun takes off their bonnet to Old Glory wherever she floats to the breeze, in foreign lands as well as to her past and present defenders, and the highest honor that can be bestowed upon any man is to be an American citizen.

While we welcome the industrious of almost every nation to the shelter of the stars and stripes, but if they come to the chosen land they must wear the chosen garment. It is not enough that they become naturalized, but they must become civilized as well. A higher standard of citizenship is required in America than in any other country on the globe. We lead, and do not follow, and are one people for America and her gallant heroes. And though we may differ widely in politics and in our religion and be far apart, but just let any nation pull a feather from our bird's tail and make her squall, and we are all Americans in a minute—all one.

America stands the Christian nation of the world today, and while we are not one in faith, we are and must be one in spirit for America and her institutions and loyal to her defenders from 1776 to 1865.

We have the declaration of independence handed down to us by the shedding of blood. We have the union of States given us by great sacrifices and the shedding of blood, and while we once stood for the North and for the South, we now stand a united people—no North, no South, but the blue and gray have joined hands for the protection of "home sweet, sweet home"—America.

Much indeed are we indebted to the Grand Army of the Republic and I would say to the young and rising generations and to generations yet unborn, ever keep aglow the fires of patriotism and gratitude upon the alters of your country, and may time never erase from the memory of America the words "Grand Army of the Republic" or "1776." Remember our liberty, our freedom and our progress as a nation were made possible by the sacrifices of our sires, and like the trees in Homer, they shed their foliage to protect the young generations coming on. So with our sires, they built the stage upon which, you and I are acting today and bequeathed it to us, and did they not also bequeath to us the spirit of patriotism and gratitude that has ever been one of the cardinal virtues of America?

Why do we stand the leading nations of the world. What power or influence won for us that distinction? Here I want to say that we would indeed be the least of all nations were we to omit to acknowledge the power and influence of the American mothers. I want to say right here and now, that I do not believe that any man ever came to any high station in life without a loving Godfearing wife or mother. It was mother that trained the boy that fought for the declaration of independence. It was the mother who planted the seed in the child mind as he leaned upon her knee that gave us our liberty, it was a mother that gave in tears her only son on the altar of his country. It was the teaching of mother that actuated the boy to go to his country's call for home and loved ones. It was a loving wife that gave in tears her bosom companion to the defense of his country. Those boys and those companions are the grand army of today. Let us scatter sunshine in their lives—make them feel that we are grateful for the sacrifices they made for us, and that the grandure of America is their grandure. When we look in the face of the American boy and the American girl in the world, and, as Moses viewed, the promised land by faith so we view the future and the American girl we see the brightest boy and girl in the world, and rising generations. Nor can we believe we will ever fall as did Greece and Rome and Spain by our own injustice to our fellowman, or for the want of spirit of patriotism or gratitude.

We have just witnessed the launching of the life boats of a number of young ladies and gentlemen who have started on their life's voyage. We join with all America in wishing them a happy voyage. It is not just as we take it—this mystical life of ours. Life's fields will yield just what we make it—a harvest of thorns or of flowers. Let them remember that until now they have been guided by wise and patient instructors, but now they must be guided by the lessons they have been able to glean from the history of the voyage of those who have embarked before them. May they not forget that the progress of today demands the highest attainments of education and American citizenship—loyal to the stars and stripes and a deep love for home and country and her defenders.

JOHN HOWARD PAYNE.

Actor, dramatist, editor, poet, diplomat and song writer—these were among the activities of the three score years which marked the life span of John Howard Payne, who was born in New York just 117 years ago today. He died in far-away Tunis in 1852, and out of the wreckage of the passing years one thing he wrote has survived and flourished in the hearts of men—that sweetest of old songs, "Home, Sweet Home." Carping critics pronounced it doggerel and passed upon it the sentence of death. But its critics have come and gone and are forgotten, and "Home, Sweet Home" is still a favorite and its refrain continues to bring a responsive tugging at the heart-strings of the multitudes.

Payne began his career as an actor at the Park theater, New York, when only 16 years of age. His talent brought almost immediate recognition and he won a brilliant success on the New York stage. Later he extended his success to England and Ireland, playing a part of the time with Miss O'Neill. In 1813 he settled for a time in London, establishing a theatrical journal called The Opera Glass. Returning to America, he continued his dramatic and literary career, writing translating and adapting more than sixty plays.

"Home, Sweet Home" was first sung in the opera of "Clare," in the words having been written by Payne and the music of the song composed by Sir Henry Bishop.

In 1851 Payne was appointed United States consul to Tunis, Africa, where he died on April 10 of the following year. In 1883 his remains were brought to America, and interred with great ceremony in Oak Hill Cemetery, in the District of Columbia.

Many admirers of the poet annually visit his last resting place on his birthday and leave behind floral tributes of the affection in which the author of "Home, Sweet Home" is still held by the American people.

EXERCISES AT ORANGE SCHOOL

Elaborate Program Was Carried Out at the Orange Christian Church.

REV. ABBERLEY THE SPEAKER

Rushville Minister Frankly Admitted He Was "Yanked Over"—Good Program.

Commencement at Orange HEAD

The final touch of the school year was given on the night of June 2d, when eleven of the representative boys and girls of Orange township received evidence of the approval of their efficiency in the common schools from the teachers of Orange township and the township and county school officials of Fayette county.

The commencement was held in the Orange Christian church, which was crowded to its capacity. The church had been beautifully decorated by Mr. and Mrs. S. S. McKee, the efficient, enthusiastic and progressive trustee, and was hung with miniature flags of all nations, interwoven in strands of artificial specimens of forest verdure, festoons of the national colors and shields of our Union.

The class motto was, "Not Finished; Only Begun," and was given a prominent place over the center of the stage. The entire scheme of decoration had as a background the folds of Old Glory artistically draped upon the back wall of the stage.

The program was preceded by a concert of thirty minutes by the Auditorium orchestra of Connerville, and all present were treated to a musical feast which drew forth rounds of applause. The program proper was opened with prayer by the Rev. Walls, of Glenwood. Prayer was followed by another selection by the orchestra. This was followed by Mr. Clarence Backous with a solo entitled, "Roses." This rendition brought forth such a storm of applause that the singer was compelled to return and sing one verse of the beautiful song a second time.

The Rev. R. W. Abberley, of Rushville, who openly confessed to being an Englishman "yanked over," then addressed the audience upon "The Forces that Make for Our Civilization," and for more than an hour held the undivided attention by his masterful presentation of his subject matter and the eloquence of his oratorical power.

After another selection by the orchestra, Superintendent Trusler, with a few well chosen remarks presented the graduates with their diplomas. This was followed by another rendition by Mr. Backous and the benediction by Rev. Walls.

The graduates were Ray W. Stevens, Josie M. Creek, Eva T. Mingle, Lena G. Bever, Albert E. Armstrong, Frank E. Bever, Elsie A. Morgan, Russell R. Young, Bertha B. May, Beulah L. Murphy and Ersia M. Roman.

They were piloted through their eighth year to victory by the following very efficient corps of teachers: J. W. Robertson, Miss Laura Goddard, Wm. H. Tate and Miss Gladys Perrin.

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, June 9.—Judge Vinson Carter of the superior court has sustained the contention of the Republicans that the law enacted in 1905 created a board, consisting of the governor, auditor and secretary of state, which has the authority to appoint the state house custodian. The state house custodianship and about twenty places connected with it have been a bone of contention between the Republicans and Democrats since Governor Marshall was inaugurated. The Democrats asserted that the governor has the right to the patronage. The governor appointed Thomas Colbert custodian, and Michael Cain engineer, Auditor Billheimer and Secretary of State Sims appointed Charles J. Wheeler of Noblesville custodian and Samuel C. Shutt of Indianapolis engineer. The Republicans have possession of the offices, but Judge Remster of the circuit court decided in favor of Cain. Judge Remster is a Democrat and Judge Carter a Republican. However, their decisions were not on the same features of the law. There is some question among the Republican leaders whether or not they have the right to the engineer's office and the patronage connected with it, as a part of the disputed law under which the appointments were made contains an amendment authorizing the governor to appoint the engineer.

It was alleged by the Democrats that the act creating the appointing board was vetoed by the late Governor Matthews and that his private secretary, Myron King, was prevented from delivering the veto by a memorable riot at the state house a few hours before the legislature of 1895 was adjourned. The enrolled copy of the act was destroyed and the law was printed from an engrossed copy. The Democrats declared that the constitution provides that the acts must be printed from the enrolled bill and that act of 1895 was vetoed because it was vetoed and not printed as the constitution provides. Judge Carter ruled that the journals of both branches of the legislature show that the enrolled act of 1895 was signed by the presiding officers of both branches, although the enrolled act is not in possession of the secretary of state at this time. The judge said that a part of the complaint admits that the bill was presented to the governor. After that, the court says, the only thing to prevent the bill from becoming a law was the veto of the governor. It was admitted by both sides of the case that the bill was vetoed, but the records of the house do not show that a veto was received. Judge Carter says that it is a well settled rule of the courts that oral evidence of veto cannot be accepted and that the court must make a decision according to the showing on the record.

ords. Judge Carter said that it would be a dangerous theory for the existence or non-existence of a law to depend on the memory of individuals. The cases will be taken to the supreme court for settlement.

Primary Election Commissioners Walter Tingle, Democrat, John Weaver, Republican, and City Clerk McNulty have agreed that the nominating primaries for both parties for the city campaign shall be held Aug. 5. The Democrats wanted an earlier date, but the Republicans held out for an August primary. It is said that Lew Shank, candidate for Republican mayoralty nomination, insisted on an early primary, believing his chances would be better.

LEGAL BATTLE ON DATE OF LAW

Will be Decided by Judge Will M. Sparks in the Shelby Circuit Court.

IN COURT SEVERAL PLACES

Question as to When County Option Law Takes Effect is up Again.

A case to test the right of Valentine Schoelch to run his saloon until November will be filed very soon says the Shelbyville Democrat. A meeting of active drys was held yesterday. The Rev. G. M. Smith took a leading part in the meeting. At this gathering a considerable sum of money was raised in which to fight Mr. Schoelch and attempt to put him out of business.

The case will be brought before Judge Sparks. It is understood that the drys have employed Carter & Morrison and George Meiks to fight the case against Schoelch. Attorney Alonzo Blair is looking after Mr. Schoelch's interests.

Eight courts in this State have passed on the identical legal question involved here. Of the eight, seven of them have held that the county option law did not become effective until after the distribution of the acts. One lonesome court has held otherwise.

A decision of note on this question was the decision at Bedford, Saturday, when Walter Hottell, of Bloomington, acting as special judge held that the saloons in Bedford which obtained licenses after the law went through both houses, receiving the governor's signature but previous to the time the acts were distributed were not affected by the act. Inasmuch as Hottell was a member of the legislature, which passed the county option act, and was one of the members voting for it, and is a lawyer of ability, this decision is entitled to some weight.

PALMIST READS WILSON'S HAND

Prof. Kirk, Who Formerly Was Located in Rushville, Reads Alleged Murderer's Hand.

SENSATION IN CONNERSVILLE

Traits of Man on Trial For Killing His Wife are Laid Bare in Reading.

During the progress of the Wilson murder trial there was some evidence regarding Wilson's hands says the Connersville Examiner. Wilson on one occasion was alleged to have said to some member of the Reed family that his hands were the most peculiar ever possessed by a human being.

At the conclusion of the trial yesterday the Examiner asked Wilson if he would permit a palmist to read his hand. Wilson agreed and Prof. Kirk, a palmist who has been in the city for some time, read Wilson's hand. An impression was taken on a piece of paper at the jail and Prof. Kirk reports as follows, the reading being from Wilson's left palm:

"This hand indicates a person of a morbid, sensitive temperament, easily irritated and somewhat difficult to get on with; quick tempered and when aroused would be somewhat abusive, but this is not the hand of a cold blooded murderer.

"There are indications that the mother, just before his birth, was very much worried from certain causes; this mental condition of the mother left its influence on the child and this accounts for his morbid and sensitive nature.

"One can also observe certain lines in this hand which denote opposition and antagonism to those with whom he has associated. Persons of his disposition go through life without being understood. If happily surrounded he would be honest and truthful but in reverse environment is apt to become the reverse.

"He is liable to jump to and act from conclusions too quickly and therefore get into difficulties. The absence of the lines of individuality indicate an overwhelming amount of bad luck and serious trouble around his present age.

"His thumb shows him to be possessed of great perseverance, and naturally a worker. He possesses an observant nature and could develop an inventive genius. The wide curve of life line is a sign of great vitality. The indications are that he will live to the age of seventy-one. There are signs of unfavorable conditions for some time to come.

"There is a liability to trouble with stomach and heart; must be careful in this direction, otherwise a serious sickness may be the result.

"Although indications point to unpleasant and unfavorable conditions for quite a time, yet there will be a change for the better around the forty-second year."

Rushville is going to boom.

THE MAN FROM HOME

A NOVELIZATION OF THE PLAY OF THE SAME NAME
BY BOOTH TARKINGTON AND HARRY L. WILSON

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

This romance deals with a curious admixture of American plainness and European high life; with a young Indiana girl dazzled by a title and in the clutches of a quartet of sharpers headed by an impecunious British peer; with the girl's Anglomaniac brother, a Russian noble in disguise, an escaped Russian convict and a faithless wife, and, most important of all, with the girl's shrewd, witty, courageous, resourceful guardian, Daniel Voorhees Pike of Kokomo. Daniel loves the Indiana girl and is determined to save her from the sharpers even against her own will. Read and you will learn how Daniel, with but a single friend to aid him, faced a most difficult dilemma and why he figured so prominently in an international romance in which heraldry was more important than hearts and cupidry far more conspicuous than Cupid.

with the stern features and the kindly gray eyes that always seemed a perpetual rebuke to the face in which they were set, ruminated over the letter he held in his hand. His back was to the door—a half glass door which was also the main and only entrance to the room and which bore upon its translucent surface in ragged letters, worn by the polishing the glass had undergone, the words, "Daniel Voorhees Pike, Attorney at Law."

Pike himself had a queer twist of feature, a sort of whimsicality that pervaded the very atmosphere about him, and the smile with which he regarded the letter he held had a world of reminiscence and sadness in it.

As he gazed at it the letter seemed to fade into nothingness, and in its place there rose the picture of a day years before, a day that caused the dingy walls of the office to become tenuous and gauzy, and through the gauze he seemed to see another office—a ramshackle sort of place, with a tin sign showing through the window which informed the passerby that real estate was the commodity dispensed within. To Pike the picture grew yet more distinct, and in the broken bottom of a heavy chair he saw the figure of a man engaged in smoking a cornucop pipe.

In another corner of the room he could see a red headed boy poring over a pine table, laboriously copying in a round hand some title deeds. Then, through the reaches of the past, he seemed to hear the heavy faced man remove the pipe from his mouth and heard him speak.

"Dan," he said, "it's a girl!" And he heard the gasp the boy gave forth as he turned about on his stool and looked with startled eyes into the kindly blue ones that glimmered into his own.

"Show her to Dan."

"A—girl!" he seemed to hear the boy say. "A little girl, Mr. Simpson?" In his fancy he saw the big man nod, saw him place the pipe back in his teeth and extend his two palms until they were a foot or so apart.

"A girl, Dan," he heard, "bout so long, Dan, and purtier than all get out. An' she's goin' to be a big responsibility, my boy. We'll have to sell a heap of lots to pay what she's goin' to cost, Dan—a whole heap of lots."

And gradually the picture seemed to fade away, and, like a dissolving view, its place was taken by another—the picture of a half timbered house that stood back among some trees at the corner of Main and Center streets. He could see the worn steps leading up to the veranda and himself approaching half fearfully along the gravel walk that led in from the rusty gate.

On the veranda sat the big man with the heavy features and the cornucop pipe, and he heard the voice again bidding him come up. And then there was a call to some one within, and a woman emerged with a white bundle in her arms.

"Show her to Dan," he heard the man's voice say, and then, when the woman had removed a bit of the flannel covering from the little face and he had looked upon it, startled, abashed and marvelously choking as to the throat, the big voice went on again:

"She's going to be Ethel, Dan, that bundle of infancy. And maybe some of these days she'll be getting herself in a tight place, and it's going to be up to you, Dan, to help her out, and you're going to promise me that you'll do it, boy. Horace, the other kid, he'll grow up maybe to have sense, and he'll look out for himself, but it's a tough place for girls, Dan—a mighty tough place."

He could almost hear the hushed voice in which the boy had given the required promise and the awe with which he heard that the newest atom of humanity to arrive was already motherless, and then the picture faded again. Then came a succession of similar views.

He saw the dingy real estate office grow into a respectable brick building, and then into a handsome stone edifice, and the heavy featured man turn grayer and grayer and more somber and more hardworking, and he could remember the day when the tiny Ethel was brought to the office for the first time and of the manner in which she began to grow up. He recalled the day when she reached the mature age of twelve and of how he had presented to her a Bible for a gift and of the manner in which he had blushed for all his twenty-five years.

And then he recalled the day when John Simpson had confided to him that the "kids" were to be given advantages and were to be sent abroad to school. There came a blank after that, but he recalled as if it had been but yesterday the feeling with which he had gone off into a corner and wrestled with the grief that had beset him. He could even see the fluttering hand that waved to him from the car window as the train took her and her brother away.

Suddenly the door behind him opened and shut quickly, and quick steps caused him to drop his feet to the floor. He turned and found a visitor at his elbow.

"Dan," said the newcomer, "it's all yours. Jenkins just got a telegram that the K. and G. has decided to offer you the representation for this end of the state."

"SHE'S GOING TO MARRY THE HON. ALMERIC ST. AUBYN."

"That so?" responded Pike aimlessly.

"Of course it's so, man," replied the other, shaking him vigorously by the shoulder. "Wake up, can't you? It's worth fifteen thousand a year to you!"

Pike turned quizzical eyes upon his friend and folded the letter he held in his hand.

"Much obliged to you, Tom," he said. "I guess I'm kind of upset today. Got a letter here that—jolted me a little. I'm thinking of going away for a spell."

"Going away?" ejaculated his friend with wide eyes. "Going away! Where?"

"I guess I'll take a trip across the water," replied Pike dreamily. "Always wanted to see those foreign parts, those Venices and Romes and Londons. Must be a queer tribe over there, Tom. Not much like us plain folks here, eh? Lots of high and mighty dukes and earls and things and coats of arms and crowns and coaches with white horses, eh?"

Tom Perkins sat down in a chair with a gasp of astonishment. He stared at his friend with frank amazement written on his face and opened his mouth twice before his lips formed the words.

"Europe!" he said at last. "Europe," he replied. "Say, Tom, you remember Jim Cooley? They sent Jim over there, didn't they? Made him vice consul or something over in London? I'd maybe get a chance to see Jim and talk to him about—about old times."

His voice died down, and he regarded the wall again.

"Never happened to hear of folks over there, of the name of—of Hawcastle, did you, Tom?" he went on. "I don't know what sort of business they are in, but I guess they're well to do. Never happened to hear of them, eh?"

Perkins shook his head, and Pike went on: "Maybe I'll write to Jim Cooley and ask him about these people. Jim'd be likely to know 'em, I guess. Vice consul must be a pretty big bug over there."

"Law case?" asked Perkins suddenly. "Sort of," answered Pike quietly. "I don't know that I'd call it just that. Perhaps the trip would be a change anyway. And I'd like to see this man Hawcastle."

"Where does this Hawcastle live?" asked Perkins. "England. Got a house he calls Hawcastle Hall."

"What about the K. and G.?" asked Perkins suddenly.

"I guess the K. and G. will have to wait awhile." Perkins stood up resolutely and faced his friend.

"There's something wrong with you, Dan," he said emphatically. "There's something mighty wrong. It ain't like you to go running off this way unless there's something behind it."

He stopped, for Pike was whistling softly to himself, whistling like the man who is striving to recall some tune that is only half forgotten. Then he turned to Perkins.

"Remember that old tune, Tom," he it must be a mighty fine place."

"Huh!" replied Perkins disgustedly. "What's the matter with Kokomo? Why don't that girl come back home and marry and settle down? Tell me that."

Pike smiled queerly, and his head seemed to shrink into his shoulders a trifle as he thrust his hands into his pockets.

"I guess she's going to marry and settle down, Tom, all right," he said slowly. "From what I hear she's going to marry one of those dukes or earls I was mentioning."

"Marry a foreigner!" cried Perkins, jumping to his feet. "Why, I thought she—"

"Never mind what you thought, Tom," returned Pike. "I'm telling you she's going to be married. That's why I guess she won't be likely to come back to Kokomo. I guess Kokomo's a pretty poor looking place after some of those other places she's been seeing."

"How do you know?" asked Perkins, drawing his chair forward.

Pike lifted the letter he had folded up. "I got this from her," he said simply. "Want to know what's in it?"

"Yes," answered Perkins.

"I can't let you read it, but it's from a place in Italy—Sorrento," he went on slowly, mouthing the unfamiliar word. "She says she's going to marry the Hon. Almeric St. Aubyn, heir to the ancient house of Hawcastle. And she wants to make a settlement on him. She can't marry without my consent, you know, Tom. If she does the money goes to the Kokomo Orphan asylum."

"Going to give your consent?" inquired Perkins.

"Don't know," answered Pike. "I've got to look the young man over first. I promised John Simpson I'd always look after her. That was when she was born. He said girls sometimes got into a tight place and they'd need some one to pull them out. Sounds good, doesn't it, Tom? Hon. Almeric St. Aubyn. Must be a member of congress or something over there. Maybe he'll be a senator some day. I can't object, Tom, if he's got a show to make a good living for her, can I? Say, what is a settlement, anyway? You don't suppose I've been keeping her short of money, do you, and she's had to borrow?"

Perkins shook his head gloomily.

"Don't ask me," he said. "I don't know anything about women. Why, Dan, I thought you'd mapped it out to marry."

"That'll do for that," said Pike quickly. "We'll not talk about that now, Tom. Suppose you go down to Archie Toombs and ask him about Sorrento and how to get there and when a fellow gets there after he starts. I'm going to write a letter to Jim Cooley and get him to hunt up this Hawcastle."

When Perkins had gone Pike pulled open the letter and read it once again. It was the most formal of notes, beginning "Dear Mr. Pike" and ending "Yours sincerely." It contained a brief notice of the writer's intentions, or, rather, intentions in the event of a certain contretemps that to her seemed inevitable, and trusted that the end would meet with his approval.

He sighed as he folded it and returned it to its envelope.

"And that ends the guardianship," he muttered. "Wonder what I'm going to do with the old house now?"

From a drawer in his desk he pulled a framed picture that showed a delicately featured girl, with big, frank eyes and a wealth of light, curling hair that was half hidden by a big garden hat. There was a smile about Hard to attend to household duties. With a constantly aching back.

A woman should not have a bad back.

And she wouldn't if the kidneys were well.

Doan's Kidney Pills make well kidneys.

Here is a Rushville woman who endorses this claim:

Mrs. William Merrill, 332 West Fourth Street, Rushville, Ind., says: "For a long time my back was very weak and I had a constant, dull pain across my kidneys. I felt weary and languid and I read to do housework of any kind. Some time ago my husband obtained a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at F. B. the lips that seemed very engaging, and the muslin dress she wore had been accentuated in its simplicity by the art of the London photographer. Pike had preserved the picture, which had been given to him by old John Simpson the day before he died, and he sighed as he looked at it.

Then he laid it face down upon the desk and dropped his chin into his hand. It may have been an hour that he sat there, and in that time never a thought of his legal business crossed his mind. He was busy with a fanciful picture of an unknown city that in spite of his desire seemed to take on the aspects of a larger Kokomo, and in his fancy he could see a big, well knit young fellow bending eagerly over to look into the face of a girl, and he heard her call him Almeric.

"Must be a mighty fine man," he mused—"a fine big man—to capture her."

Then Perkins came in to ask if Pike wished to sail from New York for Havre in two days' time, stating that it would be necessary to leave that night if Pike wished to take passage on her.

"I'll go, Tom," he said. "Maybe you'll drop in here once in awhile and tell folks that ask for me that I'll be back in a month or so."

Then he sat down and wrote to Jim Cooley at London.

At 8 that night he stepped aboard an eastbound train and the next afternoon was in New York. Sorrento seemed a long way off, and it was with a heavy heart that he walked up the gangplank of La Provence.

FORM ONE MORE HABIT

YOU HAVE probably not yet formed enough "habits." It is likely that you would find the "ad-answering habit" a dividend paying one—and one that would never lure you far away from the best thrift-creed ever devised.

A habit is usually formed through yielding to natural inclination. The ad-answering habit will have to be cultivated—perhaps against present inclination, and through an effort of will.

You are not in the habit of saying "impossible" are you?

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT.

Good healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with natural action of the organs of assimilation. Nine people out of ten in order to weigh as much as they ought and be perfectly healthy, should use Samose, the great flesh-forming food and health restorer. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets, and see how your weight increases from week to week.

Samose does not contain a particle of starch or pepsin, nor is it any nauseating preparation, such as is usually recommended to make people fat, and which does not build up good healthy tissues. Samose has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the whole system, helps the food that is eaten to be assimilated in a natural manner, and absolutely restores health to all the organs.

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Samose F. E. Wolcott will return your money without any squabbling.

Sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents.

Lorimer, the New Illinois Senator

Former Street Car Conductor,
Who Got His Start In Politics by Organizing His Craft, Is Known as the "Blond Boss."

Father of a Ship Canal From Chicago to the Gulf—Breadwinner
From an Early Age—Good Mixer and Popular—Loyal to Friends

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.
THE main facts about William Lorimer, the new senator from Illinois, are that he was born in England; that he is forty-eight years old; that he came to the United States in childhood; that his father, who was a minister, died when the lad was ten years old; that from then on he has been a breadwinner; that he had little or no schooling; that he sold papers, blacked boots, wheeled salt in the packing houses and was a horse car conductor; that he became a machine politician and is now known as the "blond boss"; that he has been widely and vehemently denounced as being a representative of the vicious elements and "the interests"; that nevertheless his private life is notably clean and his family life ideal; that he does not smoke, drink or swear; that he has eight children, to whom he is devoted; that he is a large man, serene, unruffled, a good mixer and popular; that he never goes back on a friend; that he has been in congress seven terms; that he is known as the "father of the deep waterway project" of a ship canal from the great lakes to the gulf; that he is a fair speaker, but prefers to work on the quiet, and that his election as senator came as a surprise at the end of the longest deadlock in the history of Illinois.

This is but a skeleton outline, but it gives an idea of the man. His career is not commonplace or usual by any means, and perhaps the strangest thing in it is that he, a party boss, was elected to the senate by a combination of Republicans and Democrats. Another striking feature about Lorimer is that several times his enemies have gleefully proclaimed that the "blond boss" was down and out. Yet traitor, and his pursuit is relentless. The foes of ex-Senator Hopkins explain the downfall of that gentleman as an effect of that very cause. They aver that it was Lorimer who made Hopkins senator in the first place, and when Lorimer was trying to nominate Yates over Deneen they accused Hopkins of trying to carry water on both shoulders. These are the charges, and, whether true or not, the result is the same. Hopkins is out, and Lorimer is in. The "blond boss" turned the trick in the face of a plurality for the former senator in the primaries.

Perhaps the Democratic vote for Lorimer is explained by that very fight for governor, in which it is charged that after Deneen was nominated Lorimer threw his forces to Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, and ran him a hundred thousand or so ahead of his ticket. Afterward an anti-Deneen bipartisan combination organized the legislature, and Lorimer is given the credit for that. These intricacies of state politics have peculiar twists. After all the battle between the new senator and the governor, both Chicago men, by the way, and former friends, one of Lorimer's first moves after his election was to make a call at the executive mansion, and the interview between the arch enemies was so cordial that the Chicago papers at once figured out an offensive and defensive alliance.

Waving His Candidate In.

One of the most spectacular political stunts ever pulled off by Lorimer was the nomination of Dick Yates for governor nearly a decade ago. It was on the third ballot when the cause that the Chicago man espoused seemed lost and, according to report, another man which was in the interest of some Chicago corporation. Billy Lorimer is of Chicago and for Chicago.

The Ship Canal.

Of all the things Lorimer has done or attempted to do for his own town the deep waterway project is the most momentous. When he first began the advocacy of this gigantic undertaking little attention was paid to him even in his own city. Gradually, however, Chicago began to awaken until today the ship canal from the lakes to the gulf is about the liveliest wire in the middle west. After fighting for it through many congresses and on the stump all over Illinois the new senator had the pleasure of seeing a great convention meet in Chicago in its behalf, at which both President Taft and William J. Bryan spoke in its favor. Now that he is in the senate he will make a still harder fight for his pet project and says that he will carry it through. For his advocacy of this one beneficent enterprise much can be forgiven him. There are many examples of poetic justice in the world, and not the least of these is the general belief in Illinois that it was his championship of the deep waterway that was the deciding factor in gaining for Billy Lorimer the senatorship. It would be an interesting psychological study to know whether he had such a result in view when he began the seemingly hopeless fight. Why not give him the benefit of the doubt and believe that he was actuated by public spirit rather than private ambition? Or perhaps both factors entered, as they do in most men. In writing of many men I find that there is something good in all, just as there are other things to be deplored. In striking a balance between the two sometimes the scale tips one way, sometimes the other. In Lorimer's case that ship canal when it is carried through, as it certainly will be, will redeem much and blot out much. It will be a monument ever enduring, one of which the greatest and best might be proud.

MRS. WILLIAM LORIMER.

In the end we are judged by our most conspicuous deed, whether it be of good or of evil. The deep waterway will certainly be the most conspicuous deed of Senator William Lorimer. Who can tell but that it may even swallow up his reputation as a "blond boss?"

Getting at the Real Man.

Fame plays queer tricks on us all. And we who most abhor the political methods of men of the Lorimer type are forced to applaud efforts for the public good such as those shown in his long battle for this enterprise that is to bless the future. I am not seeking to excuse Lorimer. I am only seeking to do him justice. A character sketch that shows personal or partisan bias is not worthy of the name. The effort should be to get at the real man and set him forth as he is—no more, no less. Kindness and sympathy go a long way in getting at another's viewpoint and angle of vision. Until that viewpoint is gained a fair estimate cannot be made. I am frank to say that my first feeling as to Lorimer was one of repugnance. Looked at more closely, there is gold beneath the dross. This is not said of him because he is a United States senator. It would be just as true if he were still a west side street car conductor, although there would be no palpitating interest in him as such. These things can be said of him and for him: He has made his own way; he never loses his temper; in his home he is what every American man should be: his word never goes to protest; he sticks by his friends even though they go to jail; he is constructive and for his own town, and he has fought through good and evil report for at least one public work that will benefit mankind.

Such things weigh. They contain substance and have meaning. Perhaps I have omitted the one element that counts for most in the world, though it may be rated at more than its worth—Mr. Lorimer has plucked the golden apple of success. That is the credit side of the account, and why cast up the debit? The papers have been full of it for years, and it is generally known of men.

No sketch of Senator Lorimer would be complete that did not include Mrs. Lorimer. She was born in Canada, and he married her when he was a street car conductor. The same loyalty that has held him to his friends and to his city has welded him to his home. In the life of this man there is none of the sickening story of the successful man outgrowing the partner of his humble beginnings.

In personal appearance the "blond boss" is like his name—auburn of hair, red of mustache, a good fellow and as democratic as sunshine. Here is hoping that his most cherished ambition may be fulfilled and that he may live to build the Chicago ship canal.

THOMPSON CASE AT CONNERSVILLE

Postponed Damage Suit Was Called Today in the Fayette Circuit Court.

SUIT IS AN UNUSUAL ONE

How the Plaintiff and Defense Will Argue on the Case—Much Interest in the Outcome.

The prominent Rushville attorneys employed on the Thompson-East Hill Cemetery suit went to Connersville today where the case was called this morning. The attorneys were in Connersville yesterday but on account of the Wilson murder trial not being concluded they were obliged to return home.

The Connersville Courier says of the case: "Quite a delegation of distinguished Rushvillians were visitors to Connersville yesterday, and as they were disappointed in the principal object of their visit will come back today. They comprised the attorneys and principal parties in interest in the John F. Thompson vs. The East Hill Cemetery Association case, of Rushville, sent here on change of venue. As it is a little unusual for a man to sue a cemetery, the disposition being to keep out of the place as long as possible, it may be worth while to explain the issues of this case. Briefly Mr. Thompson, who is a liquor dealer, and long on avoirdupois, was walking through the cemetery and upon crossing a small stream on a foot bridge, broke through and also broke his leg, and he now sues the cemetery association for $5000 for damages sustained, because of their alleged duty to maintain safe environments for visitors, and that failure to do so, only for individuals under certain weight maximums. The cemetery association will probably allege in defense that Thompson was only a visitor to the grounds for his own pleasure, was not there on invitation or business, hence a mere licensee, and subject to all risks incurred."
